

Temagami First Nation/ Teme-Augama Anishnabai are creating a Master Land Use Plan!

The Master Land Use Plan will guide future development on Bear Island and the Lands Set Aside. Staff and community members are working together to answer the following questions that will be addressed in the Master Land Use Plan. Where should the community develop? What should be built? What should we preserve? How do we best use our lands?

What is a Master Land Use Plan?

- It is a long-term strategic plan that guides the future of Bear Island and the Lands Set Aside
- It provides a set of policies and maps to guide future development of these lands
- It considers how the physical environment (e.g., houses, shops, roads) interacts with the natural environment and areas of importance to the community (e.g., traditional land use areas, historical sites to preserve, etc.)

Why are we preparing a Master Land Use Plan?

On June 24, 2017, TFN voted to ratify the Temagami First Nation Land Code. The goal is to take control and management of our lands. A Master Land Use Plan is one of the documents required to achieve this goal.

We need your help determining the vision for the Master Land Use Plan.

The Master Land Use Plan needs to reflect the needs, interests and desires of the community: What vision do you have for these lands? What do you see for these lands 25 years from now? Come to one of our public events and let us know!

What we have heard so far:

The first engagement sessions were held in Spring 2019, which included community open houses, a workshop with youth, a workshop with Elders, a survey, and a variety of fun engagement activities. We had great participation and received great insight into the community's preferences, what your priorities are and what you want to see for the future of Bear Island and the Lands Set Aside. The next engagement is noted below – please participate!
